ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS

Three Girls Hugged and Kissed by Colored Assailant.

EVADES HIS PURSUERS

Attacks First of Kind in Several Years—Aldermen Favor High School Building.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 24, 1913.

"Black Jack, the Huger and Kissler," made his appearance in this city early last night and within less than an hour attacked three young white women in the southwestern section of the city, one of whom he succeeded in kissing, it is said, and the two others he simply hugged around the waist.

The first report was made to the police at 8:30 o'clock and the two other reports were received in quick succession thereafter.

According to the police the names of the young women who were attacked by the man were given as Misses Cronk, Gaines and Davis.

Practically every policeman on duty went out in search of the assailant. An excellent description of him has been obtained and the police think they will be able to apprehend him.

In each instance the man grabbed the woman around the waist. Their outcries caused him to run away.

Eludes Men and Boys.

A large crowd of men and boys, attracted by the cries of one of the young women, immediately started in pursuit of the culprit, but in some unexplained manner he succeeded in eluding capture. The search, however, was kept up for a considerable time.

According to the description given the police the man is between eighteen and twenty years old and was in his shirt-sleeves and is very black. He wore a black bowler hat, it is stated.

Residents of the southwestern section of the city were greatly alarmed over the attacks on the young women by the hucker, and had been apprehended by the men and boys who searched for him last night he undoubtedly would have been given severe treatment.

The attacks were the first of the kind in this city for several years.

For High School Building.

The joint committee on finance and schools of the city council, at a meeting of the board of aldermen held last night recommended the erection of a high school building at a cost of $28,000, either on the lot adjoining Lee School building or the lot adjoining Washington School building, on the site of the old Hallowell building, Washington and Wolfe streets, or in some other location in the city that will be acceptable to the city council and the city school board. The report was adopted by a vote of 5 to 2.

The report was adopted before city council for action at its meeting which will be held August 12.

Newspaper May Suspend.

This afternoon's issue of the Alexandria Daily News, now in the hands of Receivers Walter C. Foster and C. S. Taylor Burke, may be the last issue of that paper, for the receivers will ask Judge Parley in the corporation court to enter a decree permitting them to suspend publication. Receiver Foster stated today that this will be done, owing to the fact that the paper is not making operating expenses.

The News, which is an afternoon newspaper, made its first appearance March 9, 1912.

An unusually large crowd today went to Marshall Hall on the sixth annual excursion of the Alexandria police department.

Boy Scouts to Camp.

Plans have been completed by members of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts, for a camp below Fredericksburg. They will be the guests of Judge Alvin T. Embrey. They will leave Monday in command of Scout Commissioner Harry W. Rudd.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Cooper Dawson, who died Tuesday, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from her home, on Seminary Hill, west of this city. Services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Wallis of the Episcopal Theological Seminary, and burial will be in Ivy Hill cemetery.

The body of Miss Jennette M. Landvoigt, eighteen years old, who died in Washington, will be brought here for burial.

In the cruiser race at Colonial Beach yesterday, the Mingo, belonging to Cecil K. Sherman of this city won first prize. Loving A. K. of this city, carried off second prize.

Twenty Are Fined.

A fine was imposed on twenty of those arrested for failure to produce proper license cards. The other four were released. Up to a late hour no theft of an automobile had been reported. Many of those who were held for the hearing before a police judge yesterday were charged with driving an automobile without a license.

The police activity was brought about by the receipt of a letter signed "Auto Jack," who said he would steal an automobile between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in a territory covering five blocks in the heart of the city. Every motorist who approached the "restricted territory" was stopped by a policeman in plain clothes, and not a single driver of cars entered his machine without being closely questioned.

PAYING OFF ELECTION BET.

H. H. Anderson wagered that Theodore Roosevelt would be elected President in the last campaign. He is now leading a mule from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore. Photo made at the White House.

MULE AT WHITE HOUSE IS SENATE POSTMASTER

Being Led Across Continent

by Man Who Lost Election Bet.

The only bona fide democratic mule—made bona fide by the recognition of the President—arrived at the White House at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, under the escort of a disappointed progressive voter, B. H. Anderson, who is paying his election bet—the result of too much confidence—by walking from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore. The following legend appears on the white canvas blanketing the mule:

From Portland to Portland
The Man Who Lost His Bet
For President in 1912,
Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Anderson is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Butler, Pa. He was so sure that Roosevelt would be the present President of the United States that he made the extravagant wager he is now paying. He was to have arrived in Washington Tuesday, having an engagement at an exact hour and minute to see the President. He could not make it.

March 4, at the moment President Wilson was inaugurated, he started from Portland, Me., on the first leg of his journey from coast to coast. The wager required that he lead a democratic donkey all the way. Jasper is the donkey. He arrived at Baltimore Saturday and many Annapolis Sunday. He expects that he will arrive at the terminal of his journey not much before the close of the year.
